

Other Netskills Products and Services:

Strategic Staff Development

Netskills can provide a broad range of services as part of a tailored programme. This may include training needs analysis, training delivery, specially-packaged content and support with implementation.

Workshops

Our portfolio currently includes a wide range of workshops within the following strands:

- e-Learning
- Information Skills
- Developing a Web Site
- Web Technologies
- Working with the Internet

Professional Development Certificate

The skills and knowledge gained from Netskills training can now lead to a nationally-recognised qualification through our BTEC Professional Development Certificate (PDC) programme.

Training Materials

Netskills offer a comprehensive range of internet training materials, tried and tested in our own courses. These materials are available under licence for organisations to use in their own trainer-led or self-paced training.

For more information about Netskills visit: www.netskills.ac.uk

NETSKILLS:

Email: admin@netskills.ac.uk
Post: Netskills
Information Systems & Services
University of Newcastle
Newcastle upon Tyne
NE1 7RU
Tel: 0191 222 5000
Fax: 0191 222 5001
Web: www.netskills.ac.uk

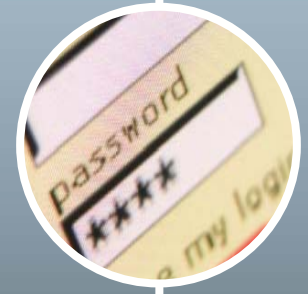

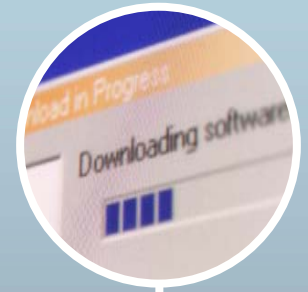

Are you new
to the internet?

You need a TONIC!

TONIC:

The Free to Use
Netskills Internet
Course

- Email
- World wide web
- Creating web pages
 - Free software
 - Communicating
- Internet etiquette
- Security and privacy
 - Chat
- Internet telephony
- Videoconferencing
 - Multimedia

www.netskills.ac.uk

Netskills is partly funded by The Joint Information Systems Committee (JISC) of the Higher Education and Further Education Funding Bodies

© Netskills, University of Newcastle upon Tyne

WHAT YOU WILL LEARN

TONIC covers the whole range of introductory internet topics for you to explore, in an easily-digestible form.

THESE TOPICS INCLUDE:

- Exploring the internet
- How to access databases, free software and online information services
- Searching the world wide web
- Communicating via the internet using email and news services

QUIZZES

There are short quizzes enabling you to test your knowledge and understanding of what you've learnt.

Over 25,000 people have registered to use TONIC.

Students find it a simple to use and concise introduction to a wide range of internet topics.

Teachers, lecturers and trainers use TONIC as a complement to key skills training.

The screenshot shows the TONIC website interface. On the left is a vertical table of contents with 17 items, including 'Overview', 'Introduction', 'Common concepts', 'Client-server', 'World Wide Web', 'HTML', 'Hypertext', 'URL', 'Multimedia', 'Audio', 'Video', 'VRML', 'Interactivity', 'Telnet', 'File transfer', 'Quiz', and 'Conclusion'. The main content area is titled 'World wide web' and contains text explaining the difference between 'internet' and 'web', the client-server model, and the use of protocols like HTTP, FTP, and email. A cartoon character with a lightbulb is on the right. At the bottom, there are 'previous page' and 'next page' buttons, and a footer with 'Netskills' and 'JISC' logos.

GET STARTED NOW!

Complete a simple registration process and start using TONIC by going to TONIC on the Netskills web site at:

www.netskills.ac.uk

DOWNLOADABLE VERSION

A downloadable version of TONIC is also available.

ACCEPTABLE USE

TONIC may be used freely for non-commercial academic and training purposes.

WHAT PEOPLE SAY ABOUT TONIC:

"Thank you for making the web less scary - I'm off to surf the net now."

"As a beginner I am getting the confidence to explore my way around the internet. I wish I had known this tutorial was available a year ago. Thanks for the tour, I'm looking forward to the next part of the course."

"Your course on the internet [TONIC] is really marvellous. I have enjoyed it a lot and it has opened my eyes."

TONIC: The Online Netskills Interactive Course

Netskills is partly funded by the Joint Information Systems Committee (JISC).

© Netskills Quality Internet Training, University of Newcastle upon Tyne, 2005.